BRYAN'S POSITION PLAIN.

Any further evidence was needed to discredit those prophets who told that Mr. Bryan would not be in line with his party in the present campaign, the speech made by the great orator at the St. Louis convention furnished it. Mr. Bryan made his unequivocal support of the United States government and the United States flag, leaving no opportunity to those who would have him believe that he will be found fighting for his party in the political arena that is now opening. Among other things he said:

After sixteen years of waiting our party entered the White House and finally we won the senate and the house at the same time. Our party is now responsible for national affairs and now we come after three years of labor to make our plans for the future and to submit to the American people the claims of our party to renewed confidence.

Whatever differences of opinion exist or may have existed as to particular measures or particular acts, are here to begin the fight of 1916, and party in every state in the Union, ready for battle.

Today those who stand for the Democratic party are able to go before the nation and not only give a reason for the faith that is in them, but give evidence of the administration's success to the confidence of the people.

You may take all the administration from the beginning of our history as a republic to the beginning of the present one and you will not find many laws written upon the statutes books of great importance to the people as you will find written in the three years by Woodrow Wilson, Democratic president.

The electorate before which this Republican party must now go is not rolled as the convention at Chicago was by the expert representatives of the favor-seeking corporations. No president since Jackson has had more such an unholy combination of the powers of high finance and a Jackson himself never met the nation better than Woodrow Wilson did. We have just commenced to what the federal reserve law is for this nation.

This great piece of legislation, the latest piece of constructive statesmanship in a generation, has not only been the hold of Wall street upon the business of the nation but it has been the grip of Wall street upon the politics of the United States. For twenty years there has not been an election but what a hundred men in Wall street could by a coercion, they in their power, change the result of the election. And one who, like me, has felt their power, must be pardoned if he rejoices that we have an administration that has broken that power and set a nation free.

While our president and our congress were at work constructing this edifice of performance a great came with burdens as no president had to bear within the last fifty years. We inherited from a Republican administration a revolution in Mexico. This administration has it with that situation and the Republican party dare not challenge a dictatorial country on the Mexican question.

We have a few men interested in China and a few interested in mines who would use the blood of American lives to guarantee profits on their investments in a foreign land. But it is not the sentiment of the American people. The people of this country stand back of Woodrow Wilson in determination not to interfere in the affairs of Mexico.

Why, my friends, if President Wilson yielded to the demand of those who have clamored for intervention in Mexico, we would no sooner have used the line than the same men would tell him that the soldiers must the south of us, but with war to the east of us. My friends, I have differed from our president on some of the methods employed in this war, but I am one of those who desire sincerely that this nation shall not become a participant in the dreadful conflict.

"We have a record upon which we can appeal to the people for their support without fear and without blush. I believe, the American people, grateful for what this administration has done, grateful that we have peace in this country while war stalks throughout the world, will not be unmindful of the fact that it was a Democratic president, supported by a Democratic senate and house who has thus saved the country the horrors of that war."

"My friends, I believe that there is now before this country an opportunity such as no other country has ever had since the beginning of time. I believe that God in His providence has reserved for the United States the honor and the task of lifting the moral code that governs individuals up to the level of nations and making it a part of the code of all nations."

POLITICS NOT PARAMOUNT.

Following the ebullition of the big political pot, caused by the national conventions, the excitement will now probably subside a bit, except as to the noise that local candidates make in the primary contest. In the meantime, we can watch the crops grow and devote our attention to making the most of the fine prospects that Oklahoma is now facing.

Only in a limited way do political affairs affect the welfare of the average citizen. Most of the things that enter vitally into our daily lives have little relation to matters pertaining to government.

We prosper or fail in a business way chiefly by the manner in which we meet the particular problems that confront us as individuals, putting industry and intelligence into the solution of them.

As citizens it is our duty to play our part in public life, vigilant at all times in seeing to it that the right men are nominated and elected to fill offices and exerting our influence to the end that government, local and national, will be such as will best serve the common weal, but after we have done all this there is still a vast field of effort for us to occupy as members of our community.

The call of civic duty comes to us daily, bidding us have an open mind and willing hands to assist in promoting the progress of our state and community, ready to co-operate with our fellow-citizens in making the most of all opportunities before us. In the realm of politics we may be divided but we can hook ourselves up in the wagon and pull together as one big

A Little Blossom To Delight the Home

When it is known that in the near future the home is to be blessed with a new arrival, the first thought should be "Mother's Friend." This is an external remedy gently applied over the stomach muscles. It makes them firm and pliant, they expand naturally without undue strain. It removes from the nerves those influences which are responsible for much of the pain incident to the period of expectancy. It is for this reason that such of the distress such as morning sickness is avoided. All prospective fathers should see to it that the expectant mother is provided with a bottle of "Mother's Friend."

If more convenient get a bottle on your way home. Remember that many of our most valuable aids to health and comfort and safety are only such when our knowledge of them is put into action. Be sure to suggest its use and "Mother's Friend" will soon become one of the most helpful influences ever devised for avoiding much of the distress incident to coming motherhood.

The directions are simple. Get it at any drug store. It is applied by the expectant mother herself. It penetrates deeply and affords quick and splendid relief in a most gratifying manner and reflects a physical betterment to the nervous disposition of the baby. Don't fail to get a bottle of "Mother's Friend" today and then write Bradford Regulator Co., 715 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for a pretty little book brimful of information for expectant mothers. It is a delight to read it.

team in all the numerous ways open to us for the advancement of interests that concern all.

 We'll just keep Woody on the job.

To be mentioned only in subdued, sorrowful tones—that paying tax.

One advantage of buying a ten cent knife is that you are less likely to lose it.

St. Simp says he notices that he is never alarmed by a storm except when it frightens him.

In about twelve cases out of a dozen a man makes a serious mistake when he fails to play his game on the square.

Another startling offensive staged on the Verdun front, according to recent bulletins. Pair of women, fowls, garden, frazz.

Properly speaking, "What are we here for?" should have been the paramount issue in the Republican county convention today.

It may not please the prospective brides but it will suit the farmers just as well for the showers to let up till the wheat is harvested.

Also, it is getting hot enough for a man to have a hard time keeping the carburetor on his lawn mower adjusted so it will run smoothly.

Ordinarily, Jonas Cook is not given to exaggeration. It was probably a slip of the tongue when he told an audience that he once taught school in a town 7000 "miles" above the sea-level.

Going to a stag party in the country on an evening when a showering rain makes the roads slippery enough to slide half a dozen cars into the ditch is an unadulterated pleasure, so reports say.

Horoscope for the Day:—Saturn and Venus are looking like they have had a spat and hence it will make trouble for you today if you forget to mail your wife's letter. The threatening aspect of Mars portends war in Europe till peace is concluded.

Expressiveness.
 "How is your boy James getting along with his books?"
 "First rate," replied Farmer Corn-tassel. "He's learned a whole lot." "Knows more than you do, I bet." "I won't say that. But he kin tell me a lot of the things I already know in language I can't understand."—Washington Star.

Didn't Take a Chance.
 "How is the cooking in that restaurant?"
 Gentleman with toothpick—"Fine." "And what did you have, may I ask?"
 Gentleman with toothpick—"A dozen raw oysters, some ice cream and a glass of milk."

Kind-Hearted.
 He (brutally)—"Women have no sense of humor, anyhow."
 She (pointedly)—"Oh, yes, they have. The reason they don't laugh at the funny things they see is because they don't want to hurt the poor things' feelings."—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

SCRIPTURE.

Proverbs 15:25-33.
 The Lord will destroy the house of the proud; but he will establish the border of the widow.
 The thoughts of the wicked are an abomination to the Lord; but the words of the pure are pleasant words.
 He that is greedy of gain troubleth his own house; but he that hateth reproach shall live.
 The heart of the righteous studieth to answer; but the mouth of the wicked poureth out evil things.
 The Lord is far from the wicked; but he heareth the prayer of the righteous.
 The light of the eyes rejoiceth the heart; and a good report maketh the bones fat.
 The ear that heareth the reproof of life abideth among the wise.
 He that refuseth instruction despiseth his own soul; but he that heareth reproof getteth understanding.
 The fear of the Lord is the instruction of wisdom; and before honor is humility.

There will be a congregational meeting following the morning service. If you are not attending service elsewhere, you are invited to worship with us, and you will be cordially welcome at any and all services of the church.

Chicago Grain.
 Chicago, Ill., June 16.—Bearish sentiment and the export situation forced wheat down today to new low prices for the 1916 crop. The market closed nervous, 3-4c to 1-2c off, with July at $1.01 1-2 to $1.01 5-8, and September at $1.03 7-8 to $1.04. Corn finished 1-2c down to 1-8c up, oats varying from 5-8c and 3-4c decline to 1-8c and 7-8c advance, and provisions at a rise of 5c to 2 1/2c.

New York Cotton.
 New York, June 16.—A bullish private report failed to stimulate any general buying on the cotton market here Friday, but an early decline was partly recovered with the close steady at a net loss of 2 to 5 points. October contracts sold from 12.95c to 12.98c during the morning and rallied to 12.94c, closing at 12.92c.
